

Hank Gist came to town on Saturday to do some trading and loaded the articles he purchased in his boat in the evening. He afterward concluded not to return home that evening and during the night some one stole about 200 pounds of flour from his boat.