

L. L. Stillwell drove the mail hack over the mountains Wednesday morning in the place of "Jack" who is laying off to purchase horses to work on the Grand Ronde end of the line. The through-brace looked too much like a "house on wheels" so he took the back.