Humming-birds are again to be seen.

Farmers are plowing, planting and sowing and everything presents an animated appearance.

Bee-men have lost a good many bees this winter, on account of the warm weather.

The Nestucca debating society is still extant, and as much interest manifested as ever.

Jasper Smith and Wm. Rhoades, start for Mexico, or elsewhere shortly, or some time thereafter.

B. A. Willey is setting out a large orchard this spring. Tom. Owen, A. C. Bain and J. R. Lowrance are doing the same on a smaller scale. J. L.
